

TWO ESCAPES MADE BY INDICTED MAN

Clever Manipulator of Mail Order Schemes Bound Over and Sent to Jail.

Gerald Evans, alias O. C. Bailey, the smoothest swindler that ever operated in the southern states by fraudulent use of the mails, and who was arrested by Postoffice Inspector R. E. Nelson on State street Saturday night, waived preliminary examination before United States Commissioner Charles Baldwin yesterday afternoon. He also expressed a willingness to return to New Orleans with out requisition papers. His bond was fixed at $2,500 and this he was unable to furnish.

The career of Evans runs through a series of crimes of the really skilled sort that makes him one of the cleverest miscreants with whom government officials have ever had to deal. In addition to cleverly dodging out of New York City after he had been placed under indictment for post office frauds he had made two previous escapes, once from Erie, Pa., and again from Chicago. Meanwhile he has lived the life of a fugitive, having secret service men constantly at his heels.

The offense upon which he will be vigorously prosecuted in New Orleans was one with which he fraudulently used the mails and got nearly $10,000 from unsuspecting victims through the medium of newspaper advertisements offering seven standard brands of whiskey for $5. For many weeks in New Orleans he collected letters from his mail box and in nearly every instance they contained the advance remittance of $5 for whiskey that was never delivered.

CRIME IS DUE TO JEALOUSY

A clerk in the office of the cleaning works. She accepted, regardless of the protests of her husband, and then came developments in their love affairs which could not be overlooked by Mrs. May and Karth.

"I used to look out of the window in my little home and see my husband caressing Mrs. Karth in the cleaning works," said Mrs. May last night. "When I spoke to him about it, he would not answer. About two weeks ago he made a date with Mrs. Karth, and the two were out until midnight. I think that the husband of the woman found out about them that night, for he came around to the cleaning works to make inquiries on the following day. He also asked me what I thought about the case, and I gave him my mind just as I knew the situation to be."

"The revelation seemed to break Karth's heart. He thanked me for telling him, and went home, nearly despondent. A little later I heard that Karth had taken to drinking to drown his sorrows, and I believe I saw him stagger past the cleaning works where my husband and his wife were one day. But when he came to my house this morning he was not drunk. After his crying spells he took a drink of whiskey from a flask he carried. He was so wrought up over losing the affections of his wife that I don't believe whiskey could have had any effect upon him."

Mentioned May in Sleep. "He told me that he had heard his wife talk in her sleep Saturday night in which she frequently mentioned the name of Marcus May. Karth told me that she moaned in her slumbers 'Look out for yourself, Marcus May; take care of yourself so that my husband will not get at you.' He said that she passed a terribly restless night. It was probably a premonition of the tragedy of this noon. When he called on me this morning Karth had a revolver, which I could see outlined in a back pocket."

"When my husband learned that I knew of the love affairs he had carried on with Mrs. Karth he spent little time about home. In surprise some days ago to learn that he had sold out his interest in the cleaning works to his partner, for he had been very much absorbed in the business. He went away then and never came home again. A little later I learned that he had pawned some of the furniture in our home and that he had taken some of my rings. They were not his rings; they were my father's. He had given me before I married. I also understand that his methods of conducting the business at the Tody Bear Cleaning works after he fell in love with Mrs. Karth has severely vexed his partner."

Abused His Wife. According to statements made after the tragedy yesterday by Mrs. Karth, her husband, who is employed as a butcher for Albert Smith & Son, 1790 South State street, started yesterday to report for work for the first time since Wednesday, leaving home at 6 o'clock. He refused to take luncheon. He had been drunk on the previous day and his wife thought that he was feeling bad. The few words he uttered were snappish and insulting, which Mrs. Karth admits that she could readily understand.

Returning to his home at 11:30 o'clock yesterday morning, Karth refused to have anything to say for a while. Then he opened with abuse and accusations. Mrs. Karth says that his entire countenance blackened and that fire appeared to leap from his eyes as he heaped abuse upon her. He told her during these moments that he was going to kill her. At his side stood his 10-year-old son Paul. He was not unaccustomed to hearing quarrels between his father and mother, for since Mrs. Karth began to give May her attentions quarrels had become frequent. In the heat of the quarrel Karth, taking quick aim, discharged a small-caliber revolver at his wife. The first bullet entered the left shoulder, fracturing the clavicle. The second shot was aimed at her head, but it missed. She had entered Mrs. Karth's heart had it not struck her left hand, which she had thrown up in weak protection. The third shot grazed the left side of Mrs. Karth's head and momentarily rendered her unconscious. She fell to the floor.

Little Paul Karth saw his mother fall and he started toward her. But he said that his father pointed the revolver at him and uttered such a vicious oath that he almost frightened him to death. In his attempt to dash away from his enraged father the boy tripped over a chair and wrenched an ankle. The boy found a front door locked, and as he turned to run back he saw his father before a mirror slash and cut the throat with a razor. He finally fell to the floor in a pool of blood.

Boy Spreads Alarm. Little Paul spread the alarm, and neighbors dashed into the house to see what had happened. The police were summoned, and also Dr. F. Moormeister. The surgeon found that Mrs. Karth's wounds were not of serious character, but ordered her sent to St. Mark's hospital. There it was announced last night that Mrs. Karth's recovery should be speedy unless blood poisoning sets in.

When the police arrived, Paul Karth rushed to the Annex apartments in East South Temple street, and notified Mrs. Charles E. Highland, a sister of Mrs. Karth. Blood gushed from the throat of Karth, and the police believed that he would die before he could be taken to any hospital. Dr. Moormeister, however, advised that he be first taken to the emergency hospital. There he was attended by Dr. B. Steele, who succeeded in closing some of the big arteries that had been severed. He was then taken to St. Mark's hospital. Though in a very critical condition, hope was entertained that he would at least survive two or three days.

Mr. and Mrs. Karth had been married fourteen years, coming to Salt Lake from Omaha, where they had passed the greater portion of their lives. They have two children—Paul, age 10 years, and Bessie, 14 years old.

reason the President indicated tonight it would be necessary to send the bill to conference. President Taft summoned three members of the cabinet to sit with him in conference with the four railroad officials, who reached the White House at 3 p. m. Attorney General Wickersham had all along been included. There was some surprise, however, when the President sent for Secretary Knox and Secretary Nagel. Later Chairman Knapp and Mr. Lane of the Interstate Commerce Commission were summoned. It was 7:30 p. m. when the conference adjourned. Then the following statement was prepared and given out:

"E. P. Ripley, president of the Atchafalaya, Topeka & Santa Fe Railroad company; W. W. Walker, Jr., acting chairman of the executive committee, Atchafalaya, Topeka & Santa Fe Railroad company; Frederick A. Delano, president of the Wabash Railroad company, and S. M. Felton, president of the Chicago Great Western Railroad company, a committee representing the twenty-four railroad companies defendant in a suit brought by the government in Missouri, in which Judge Lyer granted an injunction restraining increases in rates, met the President and the attorney general today, pursuant to a request made to the President a few days ago."

"The President stated to these gentlemen at the outset, that the purpose of the suit was to prevent the proposed rate increases (which, under the existing law, could not be investigated at all until after they had become effective), so as to preserve the status until the new statute could be passed and the commission could have the power to investigate rate advances as soon as now as announced, and before becoming effective."

"He stated further that he thought the railroad companies must withdraw the tariffs enjoined and all other tariffs filed by them, effective on or after June 1, 1910, and that none of them ought to file any new tariffs involving rate advances until the new law should be passed, assuming that it would be passed at the present session of Congress."

increases planned for June 1 or after. Some Increases Stand.

A number of increases put into effect during the last few months will not come under the agreement. For instance, the increased rates on livestock, effective last March, will not be affected. The important increases, however, and the ones of which the shippers chiefly complained, were those scheduled for June 1 and after.

The railroad presidents in conference with Mr. Taft put up a lengthy argument. They said they had been misrepresented as to there having been any change in the interstate commerce commission had approved of the last ten years.

The presidents told President Taft incidentally that they had been advised by counsel that the government's injunction suits could not be sustained. The President replied he was willing to chance that and that he thought the best way out for the railroads was for them to withdraw their increases. It was then that the settlement was reached.

CURES OLD S. S. S. BLOOD TROUBLES

The only possible way to cure Contagious Blood poison is to remove the cause by purifying the blood. This is just what S. S. S. does; and it is the only medicine that absolutely and thoroughly cleanses the circulation of every particle of the germs and virus of the disease. Mercury, Potash, and other strong minerals are often used in the hope that such powerful treatment will kill the germs, but this can not be done, and when the mineral medicines are left off the trouble always returns with its aggravating symptoms of ulcerated mouth and throat, skin eruptions, falling hair, yellow skin spots, swollen glands, and often running sores. The ability of S. S. S. to cure Contagious Blood Poison comes from its unflinching blood-purifying properties. It goes into the circulation and removes every trace of the infection, makes the blood rich and healthy, and saves no drugs of the virus to break out later on. S. S. S. does not contain a particle of mineral in any form, but is made entirely of roots, herbs and barks each of which has a direct and specific action in cleansing the blood. In addition it contains the extracts of certain botanical herbs which make it a most effective all-rounder, which is a necessary quality for a medicine in curing Contagious Blood Poison. Home Treatment book, containing much valuable information and instruct on to be found nowhere else, will be sent sealed and post paid, free to all who write and request it.

Cook in Comfort

You no longer need wear yourself out with the weakening heat of an intensely hot kitchen. You can cook in comfort.

Here is a stove that gives no outside heat. All its heat is concentrated at the burners. An intense blue flame (hotter than either white or red) is thrown upwards but not around. All the heat is utilized in cooking—none in outside heating.

New Perfection Oil Cook-stove entirely removes the discomfort of cooking. Apply a match and immediately the stove is ready. Instantly an intense heat is projected upwards against the pot, pan, kettle or boiler, and yet there is no surrounding heat—no smell—no smoke.

Why? Because The New Perfection Oil Cook-Stove is scientifically and practically perfect. You cannot use too much wick—it is automatically controlled. You get the maximum heat—no smoke. The burner is simple. One wick with a cloth cleans it—consequently there is no smell. The New Perfection Oil Cook-Stove is wonderful for year-round use, but especially in summer. Its heat operates upward to pan, pot, or kettle, but not beyond or around. It is useless for heating a room.

It has a Cabinet Top shelf for keeping plates and food hot. It has long turquoise-blue enamel chimneys. The nickel finish, with the bright blue of the chimneys, makes the stove ornamental and attractive. Made with 1, 2 and 3 burners; the 2 and 3-burner stoves can be had with or without Cabinet.
